

1. Proud to support - We

We're proud to be supporting #CoproductionWeek – 30 June to 4 July – the Social Care Institute for Excellence's (SCIE's) annual celebration of the power of co-production to design and develop better ways of doing things in social care.

Make sure you're following SCIE's media channels for announcements on how you can get involved in the conferences, workshops and live discussions they will be hosting throughout the week—and please help spread the word by sharing this post with your network <https://www.scie.org.uk/co-production/week/>.

#CoProWeek2025 #InnovationThroughCoproduction

2. Proud to support – I

I'm proud to be supporting #CoproductionWeek – 30 June to 4 July – the Social Care Institute for Excellence's (SCIE's) annual celebration of the power of co-production to design and develop better ways of doing things in social care.

Make sure you're following the Social Care Institute for Excellence's (SCIE's) media channels for announcements on how you can get involved in the conferences, workshops and live discussions they will be hosting throughout the week—and please help spread the word by sharing this post with your network <https://www.scie.org.uk/co-production/week/>.

#CoProWeek2025 #InnovationThroughCoproduction

3. Theme 1

Innovation is essential—not only to address the immediate pressures in social care, including for the millions of unpaid carers propping up the system, but also to build a more responsive, equitable and secure future.

That's why the theme of this year's #CoproductionWeek is 'Innovation through co-production'. Join the Social Care Institute for Excellence (SCIE) to explore the power of co-production to design and develop better ways of doing things.

Learn more and get involved <https://www.scie.org.uk/co-production/week/>

#CoProWeek2025 #InnovationThroughCoproduction

4. Theme 2

Innovation is essential—not only to address the immediate pressures in social care, including for the millions of unpaid carers propping up the system, but also to build a more responsive, equitable and secure future.

That's why the theme of this year's #CoproductionWeek is 'Innovation through co-production'. The Social Care Institute for Excellence (SCIE) will be bringing together policymakers, people with lived experience and practitioners to uncover new insights into how co-production fuels innovation in social care and showcase innovative projects from SCIE's support of the Department of Health and Social Care's Accelerating Reform Fund.

Learn more and get involved <https://www.scie.org.uk/co-production/week/>.

#CoProWeek2025 #InnovationThroughCoproduction

5. Unpaid carers

The sector faces significant and critical challenges that are eroding both the quality and availability of care and support. As a result, it relies heavily on almost 6 million unpaid carers who, sadly, often do not get the recognition or support they deserve.

Join the Social Care Institute for Excellence (SCIE) this #CoproductionWeek to learn more about the innovative projects supporting unpaid carers <https://www.scie.org.uk/co-production/week/>.

#CoProWeek2025 #InnovationThroughCoproduction

6. What are you doing? – We

[INSERT ORGANISATION NAME] is proud to be supporting #CoproductionWeek – 30 June to 4 July – by [ACTIVITIES/ACTION YOU'RE TAKING TO SUPPORT THE WEEK].

Make sure you're following the Social Care Institute for Excellence's (SCIE's) media channels for announcements on how you can take part in this year's programme of events.

<https://www.scie.org.uk/co-production/week/>.

#CoProWeek2025 #InnovationThroughCoproduction

7. What are you doing? - I

I'm proud to be supporting #CoproductionWeek – 30 June to 4 July – by [ACTIVITIES/ACTION YOU'RE TAKING TO SUPPORT THE WEEK].

Make sure you're following the Social Care Institute for Excellence's (SCIE's) media channels for announcements on how you can take part in this year's programme of events.

<https://www.scie.org.uk/co-production/week/>.

#CoProWeek2025 #InnovationThroughCoproduction

8. What are you doing? – Facilitators

I'm proud to be supporting #CoproductionWeek – 30 June to 4 July by running a workshop on [TITLE OR THEMES].

Learn more and get involved: <https://www.scie.org.uk/co-production/week/>.

#CoProWeek2025 #InnovationThroughCoproduction

9. Report launch

The Social Care Institute for Excellence (SCIE) has launched its new report, 'Embracing change: scaling innovation in social care in practice'.

Drawing on SCIE's hands-on work with local authorities and partners across the country, including projects funded by the Department of Health and Social Care's Accelerating Reform Fund, the report explores the barriers and enablers to innovation.

These projects are delivering learning to solutions that can be deployed now to deliver for unpaid carers and stabilise the social care sector.

Visit SCIE's website to find out more: <https://www.scie.org.uk/>

#CoProWeek2025 #InnovationThroughCoproduction