

Activity

Some things to think about:

- What does 'home' mean to you?
- What do you get from your own close relationships?
- As well as your paycheque, what do you get from your job?

Your answers to these questions can help to explain what a person with dementia might feel and need when they talk about a place that no longer exists, a person who has died or a role they no longer have.