

Delivering compassionate care: connecting human rights to the frontline

Helen Wildbore

hwildbore@bihr.org.uk

Project method

Seeks to place human rights at the heart of mental capacity services, helping to ensure frontline staff have the knowledge and skills to fulfil the vital role they can play in upholding the dignity and human rights of patients in an increasingly complex and economically challenging climate for care.

Project results/evaluation

Practitioners report:

“[human rights helps] to give a sharper, harder edge to our concerns around issues of neglect”
“It has helped, in difficult times, to give us back our social work values in a meaningful way”
